Wall paper designs should be of such a character that they will not have a tendency to excite the mind. Avoid large roses and vivid colors. Each article of furniture ought to be chosen with the idea of promoting rest for the eccupant of the room.

With this care given to the bedroom you will have additional chances for rest and sleep. Place a glass of water on a table beside the bea. A box of matches and a handkarchief. There is comfort in knowing those articles are handy even if you never have occasion to use them.

Remembar—The subdued and sooth-ing atmosphere of a properly furnished bedroom is conductive to sleep and rest, and both are essential to beauty and health.

Mrs. C.: Ruffs shorten the shoulder line. When aiming at a long, slim neck don't forget the value of the little neck trimming. A slender strip of velvet is effective. The woman who wants her neck to appear short will wear a frill of some sort around it. Ruffs, if of the fluffy kind, tend to shorten the line of the shoulders. There are short necked women who make the neck look longer by the trick of lifting the head and turning the chin a little. It gives a long, graceful curve to the neck and throat. Earrings make the neck look longer. The tall, white lace colar, if fitted to the neck, lengthens it, but it must actually fit. Getting a long neck is often a matter of carrying the shoulders right. The woman who rocks her shoulders forward, humps her back, lowers her chin, and sags at the chest, and hundreds of women do these things, will never have a neck that can be described as a line of beauty.

Edith: It is probably the difference in climate that has changed your complexion. Cold water is not sufficient to cleanse the face. A cream and good soap should be used in order to make the face perfectly clean. Use a good, pure soap at least once a day with warm water. After washing with the warm water use cold. Send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall send you formulas for removing freelies and cold cream.

M. N.: The Epsom salts solution for reducing flesh has been printed several times, but in response to your request and several others, I am glad to print it again for you. Dissolve a half-pound of Epsom salts in a pint of water. Shave fine one and a half bars of white sonp and dissolve that in a pint of boiling water. When partially cool, beat in the Epsom salts solution, Massage this preparation heavily into the fleshy parts at night and allow it to dry on the skin. In the morning wash off. Continue treatment until you have reduced to the weight you wish to be. The average loss of weight per week is two pounds. Twice a week before taking treatment it would be good to immerse the body for a few minutes in a tubful of very hot water, into which has been thrown half a hoxful of ordinary baking soda. When you feel as if you were about to melt away jump out of the tub, and after drying yourself, hastily wrap in a woolen blanket. When you cease perspiring, which may not be for half an hour, dry body and treatment is effective and perfectly harmless.

Juliet: Cold cream is about the best

Juliet: Cold cream is about the best thing one can use for chapped lips. Rub a little of the cream into the lips before retiring and allow it to remain on all night. In the morning your fips will be smooth and soft. When the lips will be smooth and soft. When the lips are chapped don't bite them, for this only makes them worse. Biting the lips would be smooth and spoils the texture. Any good cold cream may be used, but if you care for my formula, send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall gladly send it to you.

Dr. Brady's Health Talks WHY BE FAT AND FORTY!

When a man, especially a married man, begins to grow stout, it tickles his vanity, for a bit of a corporation is accounted something to be proud of even if it is abnormal. But when a woman, even a married woman, all when a woman, even a married woman, all when a woman even a married woman, all when the system is reabsorbed into the blood, the system is reabsorbed into the blood, when this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sinkening headbegins a wild-goose chase after a remedy that will reduce her. Romantic Tale by Louis Joseph Vande Copyright, 1914 by Louis Joseph Vance

SYNOPSIS.

By arrangement with the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, it is possible to read "The Tray O' Hearts" in The Times-Dispatch and also to see it in pictures at the Superior Theatre. Synopsic of preceding chapters: The tray of hearts is the death sign used by Seneca Trine in the private war of vengeance, which, through the agency of his daughter Judith, a woman or Veient passions like his own, he wages against Alan Law, son of the man (now dead) who was innocently responsible for the accident which left Trine a heiplese cripple for life. Alan loves and is loved by Rose, Judith's twin and double, but in all other respects her opposite. Judith vows to compass Alan's death, but Alan saves her life under dramatic circumstances, and so, unwillingly, wins her love. Thereafter Judith is actuated in turn by the old haired, the new love, and jealousy of her sister Rose; she becomes allenated from her father through her failure to carry out his homicidal plans, and because of the ald she has extended Alan in his flight with Rose from the Vengeance of Trine through the mountains of Western Arisons. Alan Rose. Trine, Judith and Barcus, a friend of Alan's, all in Trine's sutomobile, are haited by motor trouble, while the chauffeur goes for assistance. SYNOPSIS.
